RESEARCH

Nanoformulated Cordyceps militaris extract with enhanced water dispersibility and in vitro cytotoxic activity against selected human cancer cell lines

2026

- Conducted an experiment on Cordyceps militaris to resolve the poor dissolution of its crude extract. Investigated whether a nanoformulation could improve its aqueous dispersibility.
- Utilised ethanol–water extraction, lecithin, maltodextrin, drying, and ball milling to convert the crude extract into Cordyceps militaris nanopowder (CMNP).
- Succeeded in forming a more uniform suspension than the crude extract, with OD600 increasing from 0.15 to 0.85, having a particle size of 325 nm, PDI of 0.281, and zeta potential of -23.3 mV.
- Achieved significant progress where CMNP showed activity against HepG2, A549, MCF-7, and HL-60, surpassing the crude extract which showed only against A549 - the most sensitive cells with an IC50 of 119.85 $\mu\text{g/mL}$.
- Recorded CMNP's promising preliminary in vitro cytotoxic activity against cancer cell lines, setting up a concrete baseline for future studies.

PROJECTS

Participant - Walking with You to School

2022 - 2025

- Contributed to an annual donation program to support underserved and vulnerable communities, especially children, which lasted for over 3 years and raised a total of 45,000,000 VND; set up key facilities to enable a more conducive learning environment.
